2022 Biennial Meeting: No Woman Forgotten: Science and Equitable Health Care for Women across the Life Span

The mission of NASPOG is to promote the study and clinical application of the neurobiological and psychosocial aspects of women's health and well-being across the life span. NASPOG conducts a biennial meeting as a forum for scientific and clinical discussion with oral presentations, poster sessions, symposia, roundtable discussions and invited speakers. NASPOG's members comprise a wide range of professionals and trainees from obstetrics and gynecology, psychiatry, psychology, behavioral science, public policy, sociology, nursing, social work, public health, and law.

In 2022, the North American Society for Psychosocial Obstetrics and Gynecology (NASPOG) will host their biennial meeting at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Michigan from April 22 – 24. The meeting offers an opportunity for practitioners and scientists working in the field of women's reproductive health to come together to exchange their scientific and applied work and share a forum for discussion on how in today's world—challenged by parallel pandemics of COVID-19, racism, gender-based violence and mental health crisis—we can most effectively support women across the life cycle in wellbeing and equitable access to care. As a sponsor or supporter, you gain access to approximately 200 individuals drawn from the fields of obstetrics and gynecology, psychiatry, psychology, nursing, social work, anthropology, and other related disciplines.
